Raise Bond Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) - The limit on the amount of Series H savings bonds which can be purchased in one year by a single buyer has been raised from $10,000 to $20,000 by the Treasury.

The announcement Thursday said there has been a growing demand for the bonds from partnerships, corporations, pension funds and other investors.

POST NO. 16

Wheel Chair Project

We, the American Legion. Sedalia, Mo., sponsored subscription campaigns with the Capper Publications two years ago. Through this work he have obtained wheel chairs and other hospital equipment which has been in continuous use in your homes free of charge

We are now sponsoring a similar drive to obtain folding wheels and crutches which are badly needed. Anyone needing this equipment for a temporary time can see Mr. Lee Strader.

No donations will be accepted by either the representatives or the American Legion. This equipment is being paid for through the sale of Capper Publicactions. New or renewed subscriptions will be appreciated.

A representative will call at your home with a letter from T. O. Haggard. Adj., to explain in detail. Anyone who does not have a letter from Mr. Haggard is not authorized to take subscriptions in this campaign.

Anyone in Pettis County and vicinity is welcome to use this equipment free of charge; it is a county-wide project. Please give the representative a few minutes of your time for a worthwhile cause.

AMERICAN LEGION POST NO. 16

Sedalia, Missouri

The most economical thing about the Volkswagen isn't the gas.

Cheap new.

Far be it from us to belittle gasoline economy. (After all, we were slightly involved with aetting the whole idea started.) But there's been a subtle twist.

Volkswagen economy has become so legendary, people are willing to pay all kinds of money for a used one. (Even though a new one costs only $1,665.00.) So gas itself isn't the VW's most economical factor any more. Low depreciation is. You can get more of your money back for a VW when you sell it than you can for any other car. Of course, that's not the whole story.

The VW's reputation for steering clear of repair shops hasn't hurt any. And neither has the fact that VW owners are rarely in a rush to sell. (Why should they be? We never change the VW to make it obsolete, only to make it work better.) The plain fact is that a five-year-old

Volkswagen is worth just as much in today's market as many five-year-old cars that cost twice as much to begin with.

Just because gas economy comes in second, let's not forget it.

Day after week after month, it can add up to quite an item.

Expensive used.

Figuring 32 miles to the gallon (and 10,000 miles a year) you end up saving a few hundred extra dollars.

You just can't help it.

That 32 miles per gallon is no pipe dream, by the way. Most people get that much. Some even more. Some less.

(Obviously, you get better mileage on a highway in Kansas than during the rush hour in downtown Philadelphia.)

Then there's oil.

The Volkswagen's aluminum-magnesium engine runs with so little stress and friction, you'll probably never add oil between changes. Check any gas station attendant on

(When you do buy oil, you buy it by the pint. And five pints fill it.) The VW engine is frugal in still another way: it's cooled by air, not water. Naturally, there's no radiator: no need for one. And so there's no need for anti-freeze,

No leaky hoses. No draining. No rust.

No nothing.

You don't usually think that tires have much to do with economy.

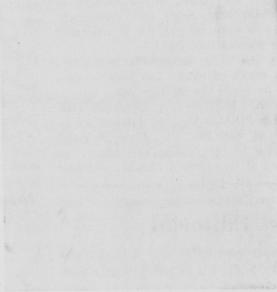

But then you don't usually get 40,000 miles (or more) on a set.

(Each VW tire bears so little weight, tire wear is phenomenally low.) That much mileage is that much money in the bank. And not at all unusual.

Now. If you add (or subtract) the 10% you save on insurance and remember that, by and large, a VW needs less maintenance than other cars, you get some idea of why they're so much in

New and used alike.

Air is free.

Finally, a word of caution.

Some people have a strong temptation to get economy-happy with their first VW and figure their costs down to fractions of a penny.

It makes a great talking point.

But resist it.

We wouldn't want anyone to forget the other big reason for driving a VW.

Big wheels save rubber. VW tire crosses yellow line, painted at exactly 40,000th mile. Shows plenty of good rubber left.

Dr. Vannevar Bush, wartime head of the Office of Scientific Research and Development, now lends his respected voice to perhaps a more fruitful discussion of the matter.

What he advises, in substance, is that if you would check the eager hand of government, then beat it to the punch.

Bush happened to be addressing himself specifically to medical men, but his words are broadly applicable. Whatever the field of endeavor, let it discharge its responsibilities well, he says so "there can be no valid outcry that government must enter to cause it to perform adequately for the public good."

This means clean your own house, wipe out abuses, keep moving forward to fresh goals, stir the imagination, and don't neglect the public interest—which shows itself in almost everything we do in this complex era.

'Crusaders of Suspicion' Are Active

LOS ANGELES-There was an angry snarl Germany was based on the Pro-Blue camand an ominous overtone among the pickets paign surrounding the Hollywood Palladium where President Kennedy spoke last week. Inside he was denouncing "crusades of suspicion" and those frustrated Americans who call for "a man on horseback." Outside frustrated Americans were creating more suspicion.

President Kennedy could have gone further Walker's activities and called the role of the leaders of the "sixth column" inside the United States; for unfortunately that column is penetrating deeper. Most alarming of all there has developed inside the armed forces of the United States and the reserves a movement not unlike that in the French army which tried to topple President De Gaulie.

The great majority of U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force officers remain dedicated to the Constitution and the civilian government they have sworn to protect. But there are signs of a dangerous minority which is not.

And with the Senate armed services committee conducting hearings in January on the so-called muzzling of the military, this might be the time to call the roll of the military men who want to barge into politics. Here

OUR ANCESTORS

AP Staff Writer NEW YORK (AP)-A new concept in religious education, designed to make Christian learning a continuing process from the cradle to the grave, soon will emerge as a hallmark of Lutheran

The program, already five years in the making, is expected to serve as a common source of strength after next year's merger of four Lutheran bodies into the 3.2 - million - member Lutheran Church in America.

Its director is The Rev. Dr. W. Kent Gilbert III, a member of the United Lutheran Church in America's board of parish education. Admittedly, said Dr. Gilbert, the new program "may look to some like a pet project dreamed up by starry-eyed educational theorists.

"Actually, it is very much down to earth and the result of some sobering necessities.'

More than 200 educators, from Pass Up Turkey Checks On university presidents to Sunday School teachers, have contributed For Broth In to the cirriculum which will go to each of the 6,000 parishes in the Test Ban Fight merged congregation.

For example, the current system in which lessons are bunched in 13-week batches will be discarded. Instead, a whole year's material will be treated as a unit "and one year will build upon another in logical sequence.

In the East, the defending champion Boston Celtics resumed their habit of winning the big ones, tripping Wilt Chamberlain and the Philadelphia Warriors 119-106 in Philadelphia. It opened Boston's Eastern lead to 31/2 games over the Warriors

The Hawks pulled up to within 2 points at 77-75 in the third period, but couldn't get closer. They were never closer than four in the last quarter.

Elgin Baylor poured in 40 points and grabbed 23 rebounds for the Lakers.

Boston, trailing 59-55 at the half, struck for 16 points in a fourminute span of the third period while Philadelphia managed a lone free throw. That put them ahead to stay, leading by 6 to 14 points the rest of the way.

Syracuse held Oscar Robertson to 20 points and Jack Twyman to 17 in its relatively easy affair with Cincinnati.

WASHINGTON (AP) -Remember the smoke that curled from the lectern while Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston delivered the invocation at President Kennedy's inaugural last January?

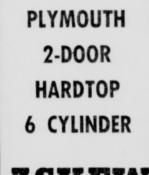

"That was the devil asking for equal time," a letter-writer suggested to the cardinal later. The Boston archbishop told the story in remarks prefacing his sermon at the annual Pan-American Mass here Thursday,

He said most people who commented on the invocation thought it was too long. It ran more than 10 minutes.

Four clergymen participated in the inaugural. "I thought I was the only one," said the cardinal. "Why they had to have four of us there praying for him, I don't

Thanksgiving Show Catches Nation's Eye

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)-NBC caught the late afternoon mood of the average American Thursday afternoon. It was a bright, light, uncomplicated little musical revue called "Home for Thanksgiving."

It came at just the right time for most of us-dinner over, catchup talk with relatives running a little thin. And despite the title, it didn't drum in the Thanksgiving theme which by eventide had begun to seem a little threadbare. The performers including Gordon Mac Rae, Carol Haney, Patrice Munsel-all seemed easy going and relaxed. There was lots of pleasant music and it all hit just the right spot.

CBS might almost be accused of playing a dirty trick on those same well-fed average Americans. It rather inconsiderately scheduled the second of its exciting and illuminating "Eisenhower on the Presidency" programs for late evening Thursday, as poor timing as "CBS Reports" has ever been guilty of. Most of us were tired and sleepy by that time.

The thirty-fourth President of the United States continued his conversations with Walter Cronkite. He covered a wealth of subjects ranging from his own reasons for counting his blessings (we are not at war, are free, prosperous, able to vote and are respected by the world) to discussing the background for his decisions on Quemov and Matsu, the Hungarian revolt, and U2 incident.

Again it was television at its very best. I wish the audience could have been.

Now that Robbin Bain is planning to leave NBC's "Today" show-it only took her a couple of months to decide she didn't like arising at 3:30 a.m. daily-it might be a good idea to revamp the whole format.

Since the regulars have been John Chancellor as head man, with Frank Blair serving as the would-be comical side-kick and chief salesman, the morning program has been slow-moving and heavy. Ex-headman Dave Garroway obviously was a jazz music fan but that's no reason to load down the present version with those noisy musical groups. And those time-killing moments of chitchat between the principals are monumentally dull.

That trend we could predict in advance is coming true: One of the major TV series producers is planning a 60-minute series on another doctor in another hospital. The success of "Dr. Kildare" and "Ben Casey" in a season pretty bare of hit shows was bound to produce the usual flock of imita-

Recommended week-end viewing: Tonight: "Ernie Kovacs Special," ABC, 8:30-9 (Eastern Standard Time); "U. S. Grant-Improbable Hero," NBC, 8:30-9; "Crossing the Threshold," NBC, 9-10:30 — first of a series on manned orbital flight.

Sunday: "Adlai Stevenson Reports" ABC, 3-3:30-Edward R. Murrow, guest; "Typhoon at Okinawa." CBS, 6-6:30-World War II battle complicated by a storm, on "20th Century"; "Chicago and All That Jazz," NBC, 10-11-story of jazz from that Midwest city.

TV In Sight!

"Hollywood, The Golden Years" is a nostalgic TV special that pays loving tribute to the wonderful world of the silent movie. Narrated with skilful restraint by Gene Kelly, it presents a constellation of old-time stars from John Bunny through Mary Pickford and Doug Fairbanks, Sr., to the coming of sound via Al Jolson.

THANKSGIVING DAY is just what the words imply. It is a day of Thanksgiving. In the 1600s Governor William Bradford of the little colony of Plymouth decreed that Dec. 13 be set aside as a day of prayer and feasting. In 1863 President Lincaln issued a proclamation setting aside the last Thursday of November for the observance. This Thanksgiving millions of

What happens when an institution for handicapped children finds it no longer has a sufficient income from donations to con-

Some one acts and they act fast. That is exactly what is happening this very moment in Sedalia.

in 1955 a group of Sedalians decided the city needed a facility to aid crippled children. From this group came the Crippled Children's Center. For this center came funds from civic groups business men and some individuals. This year donations totaled

The Crippled Children's Center is not about to declare "bank-ruptcy," so to speak, but it is facing a financial crisis that could result in curtailment of some services now offered.

Operating on a fiscal year from April 1 to April 1, the services provided children are costing $38,764. It doesn't take a whiz at math to quickly deduct that this is $10,993 short of the amount required to meet expenses during this fiscal year.

he story of work at the center and the fact that children from Pettis County receive treatment free of charge has been told by The Democrat-Capital countless times.

Here is a brief resume of some interesting facts in connection

"The Crippled Children's Center is not now and never has been a part or received monies from the United Fund. The center serves many types of handicaps. One of these is cerebral palsy. The services for these children are partially financed by the local chapter of United Cerebral Palsy.

'But these children are only 20 of the 120 served. Some of the other handicaps served are partially paid for by other groups such as to Polio Foundation who reimburses the center for some of the services rendered to polio cases served.

The Heart Association reimburses the center for some of the work done for heart patients. But none of these organizations are able to pay very much.

"The center is financed entirely by voluntary contributions. It is a private Pettis County organization with no affiliation with any National or State organization. It owes no dues nor pays dues to any organization. All monies given to the Crippled Children's Center stay in Sedalia and Pettis County.

Receipts from National Health organizations run approximately $3,000. This still leaves $31,000 that the Center must raise through its own efforts. To raise this $31,000 a year, the center must take part in all sorts of projects from bake sales to what have you.

The center, in the past five years, has served over 500 individuals in Pettis County. It has released as maximum corrected about 180 individuals. It has released as partially corrected approximately 125 individuals, who left the center before maximum correction was received, mainly due to moving out of the county. As with any organization, there are many individuals we have not been able to help. These number approximately 75. The balance of the 500 children are still at the center and looking toward the day when their handicap will either be eliminated or reduced to the minimum so they too can go to public school or do other things they wish to do.

"Initially it started with one paid teacher and approximately nine children. It has grown to the extent that it now has a certified professional staff of 12, servicing over 120 children at the

The center has been growing yearly since it came into being and its growth can be measured in the increasing number of children receiving treatment each year. Showcase Season For Julie Harris

By WILLIAM GLOVER Associated Press Drama Writer NEW YORK (AP)-This a showcase season for Julie Harris, a versatile star

Her portrayals include a saucy minx, a sorry peasant, a softhearted steno and a stubborn queen. The emotional assortment is distributed among Broadway, television and movies.

The projects in which the slim, shy actress etches her portrait gallery are: "A Shot in the Dark," a French homicide-and-sex comedy luring customers to the White Way's Booth Theater.

"The Power and the Glory." a recent two-hour TV special with Sir Laurence Olivier, over the CBS network. Her role: a troubled Latin American farm woman.

"Victoria Regina," scheduled by NBC from 9:30 to 11 p.m. (EST), Thursday, Nov. 30.

"Requiem for a Heavyweight," a movie now being filmed, in which she plays a civil service clerk opposite Anthony Quinn, Jackie Gleason and Mickey Rooney

Miss Harris rejected several other scripts in favor of the Gallic charade, but only after some cautious consideration.

In "A Shot in the Dark," Julie depicts a backstairs coquette accused of slaying a boyfriend. She was inclined to say no when the role was first offered. "I'm not terribly sensuous, not at first sight," she explains. Once before she played an amoral damsel-in "I Am a Camera" which won her stardom-"but she was neurotic and this girl is terribly
